The London Electric Scooter Company aims to save the discerning city commuter thousands of pounds each year by providing them with a highly attractive travel choice...

Introducing the Zepii V72 City Boy Electric Scooter: one of the cleanest, greenest and most FUN cost-effective alternatives to commuting to the office...

Aimed at the Blackberry-carrying, urban-savvy traveller, the colourful brand is matched with 21st Century technology to get you to that meeting on time. It comes in bespoke colours: Graphite Grey, Electric Blue, Classic White, Purple Haze, Gold Star, Cherry Pink, Yellow Mellow, Sky Blue, and Cherry Red. The Zepii V72 City Boy is 'bang on trend' with all that is city life and in line with Mayor Johnson's initiative to invest £60 million to have all charge points within a mile of any commuter within the coming years.

A close-up, low-angle shot of the front of a silver scooter. The image highlights the sleek, aerodynamic fairing, a large multi-lens headlight, and a smaller auxiliary light. The scooter is parked against a background of vertical blinds. The lighting is soft, emphasizing the metallic finish and the contours of the bodywork.

Great for urban commuters
60 mph or 95 km*
68+ miles per charge*
Approx 1pence per mile to run

* Actual results will vary. Like all electric vehicles, range is affected by a number of factors including speed, acceleration, number of starts and stops, and changes in elevation.

The Zepii logo features a stylized red lightning bolt above the word "zepii" in a lowercase, sans-serif font. The lightning bolt is composed of two thick, jagged lines that meet at the top and bottom, creating a sharp, energetic shape. The word "zepii" is positioned directly below the lightning bolt, with the 'z' and 'p' being slightly larger than the other letters.
